SAVES NO COMMISSION PAID

F. W. Freeborn Sues for $30,000 Claimed Due for Services. Asking judgment for $30,000, suit was filed in district court yesterday.

by F. W. Freeborn against Street & Co., of Kansas City, Mo., the plaintiff claiming the money to be due for services rendered the defendants in the leasing of oil and gas property in Oage and Tulsa county. Freeborn says that under a contract entered into in January of 1919, he agreed to investigate leases in the two counties for the defendants who were about to organize and finance an oil company. He says he brought the defendants in touch with men having valuable oil leases for sale and that subsequently the defendants organized a company with a capitalization of $500,000 which took over leases recommended by the plaintiff for this service, he claims he has received no commission.

A combined seat and dam has been invented which may be inserted into a bath tub to confine the water to one end when desired.
